

IF YOU PLANT IT, THEY WILL COME!

Try This Easy-to-Grow California Native: Narrowleaf Milkweed

MONARCH BUTTERFLY

Favorite foods: Adults – Nectar; Larvae – Milkweed

Favorite garden plant: Narrowleaf Milkweed

Asclepias fascicularis

What do you notice about this insect?

What do you wonder about this insect?

What does it remind you of?

Did you know that it's easy to tell males from females?

Males have a black scent gland on each hind wing.

The Xerces Society recommends planting local native milkweed one or more miles from the coast, and nectar plants such as sages everywhere, for Monarch health.

See Monarchs in the garden: All year!